

I am opposed to implementing any proposal that would weaken Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Before this law took effect, we used to be constantly bothered by unwanted telephone calls, more than 20 a week. They usually come when we least want them, e.g. in the middle of dinner. We hardly get them now. I think it has been a very effective law, and any measure that would weaken its effectiveness would be counter productive and would not serve the citizens of Indiana.
